

PATHS TO OBTAIN RECOGNITION

You trained as a healthcare profession abroad and would like to practice your profession in Germany?

To do so, you need to have your professional qualification officially recognized.

First step: Apply for recognition

- Acquire strong general German language skills (Level B2-C1)
- Compile all the required documents, including certified copies and translations of all certificates
- Important: Only applications with complete documentation can be processed
- The application for recognition must be submitted to the competent authority
- You can find the responsible authority at www.anerkennung-in-deutschland.de
- The procedure involves a fee. The responsible authority will provide information about the costs. Financial support may also be available.
- Our information seminar "Pathways to Recognition" offers many tips, guidance, and addresses for the recognition process and starting your professional career in Germany.
